

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

Write questions with yet:

1. Your friend has got a new job. Perhaps she has started it. You ask her:
Have you started your new job yet?
2. Your friend has some new neighbours. Perhaps he has met them. You ask him:
3. Your friend must pay her phone bill. Perhaps she has paid it. You ask her.
4. Tom was trying to sell his car. Perhaps he has sold it. You ask a friend about Tom:

It has already happened:

1. What time is Paul arriving?	1.
2. Do your friends want to see the film?	2.
3. Don't forget to phone grandma!	3.
4. When is Martin going away?	4.
5. Do you want to read the newspaper?	5.
6. When does Sarah start her new job?	6.

Ask with "How long":

1. Jane is on holiday.
2. Scott and Judy are in Brazil.
3. I know Amy.
4. My brother lives in Canada.
5. I'm a teacher.
6. They are married.

Complete the sentences with for or since:

1. Jane is in Ireland - she arrived there three days ago.
2. Jack is here - he arrived on Tuesday.
3. I know Sue - I first met her in 2002.
4. Claire and Matthew are married - they got married six months ago.
5. David plays the piano - he started when he was seven years old.

Ask for the underlined words:

1. He has lost the keys.
2. They have been in Italy for three days.
3. It has just stopped raining.
4. She has had this job for five years.
5. I have had this job since Christmas.
6. They have sold the car.

Complete the sentences by using for or ago:

1. Jane arrived in Ireland (three days).
2. Jane has been in Ireland (three days).
3. Dan arrived (an hour).
4. Lynn and Mark have been married (20 years).
5. Lynn and Mark got married (20 years).

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE Lösung

Write questions with yet:

1. Have you started your new job yet?
2. Have you met the new neighbours yet?
3. Have you paid your phone bill yet?
4. Have you sold your car yet?

It has already happened:

1. What time is Paul arriving?	1. He has already arrived.
2. Do your friends want to see the film?	2. They have already seen it.
3. Don't forget to phone grandma!	3. I have already phoned her.
4. When is Martin going away?	4. He has already gone away.
5. Do you want to read the newspaper?	5. I have already read it.
6. When does Sarah start her new job?	6. She has already started it.

Ask with "How long":

1. How long has Jane been on holiday?
2. How long have Scott and Judy been in Brazil?
3. How long have you known Amy?
4. How long has your brother lived in Canada?
5. How long have you been a teacher?
6. How long have they been married?

Complete the sentences with for or since:

1. Jane has been in Ireland for three days.
2. Jack has been here since Thursday.
3. I have known Sue since 2002.
4. Claire and Matthew have been married for six months.
5. David has played the piano since he was seven.

Ask for the underlined words:

1. He has lost the keys. Who has lost the keys? What has he lost?
2. They have been in Italy for three days. Who has been in Italy for three days?
Where have they been for three days? How long have they been in Italy?
3. It has just stopped raining. When has it stopped raining?
4. She has had this job for five years. Who has had this job for five years? How long has she had this job?
5. I have had this job since Christmas. Who has had this job since Christmas?
Since when have you had this job?
6. They have sold the car. Who has sold the car? What have they sold?

Complete the sentences by using for or ago:

1. Jane arrived in Ireland three days ago.
2. Jane has been in Ireland for three days.
3. Dan arrived an hour ago.
4. Lynn and Mark have been married for 20 years.
5. Lynn and Mark got married 20 years ago.